Friday, December 17, 1887.

I was called to my office by my messenger. I was told that there were people at the station house, and that the Queen had sent word that she would manage the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I was told that she would manage the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting.

I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summoned the meeting. I went to the station house and found that the Queen had already summed